Fall/Winter 2019

Changing colors, falling leaves, crisp air with the delicate scent of ripening apples. Lots of things remind me it is fall. (Of course the first snowfall means winter is just around the corner.) While I was on Martha's Vineyard in November taking reference photos of a few shorebirds before they flew south, I ran into this whitetail buck. We were both surprised but he lingered long enough for me to take a good look at him. What a magnificent example of Autumn.
